- Actions took to improve the SW development process after M3 Review:
  - We deployed our application before one day of submission to avoid any last minute breaking.
  - We created two tags P1 and P2 in github issues to mention the priority of the task so that the team can first complete P1, test it and deploy on the server.
  - Everyone from frontend and backend team performed unit testing before pushing it on github.
  - We assigned and tracked the list of task from Github Issues.
  - We made sure that every commit has sufficient information about the changes done so that other developers can understand.
  - The backend and frontend leads reviewed the code thoroughly before merging it and raised the issues, if any.
  - The leads iteratively checked on the code and process to make sure all the required and suggested changes are reflected.
